Have you ever walked into a house that just didn't feel right?

While physicists debate the mechanics, science now agrees with psychics that we each affect the world, and each other, with our emotions! As strange as it may sound (and feel), some situations can be overpowering. “People whose homes hold lasting impressions of the deaths or trauma of the previous owners can be seriously affected, and admitting to it can put them at odds with rationality. Ghosts or no ghosts, my clients find themselves affected by the feelings of their new homes, and frequently adjust their lives to suit them.” So explains author Sheldon Norberg, who details the phenomena in his remarkable new book, Healing Houses – My Work as a Psychic House Cleaner.

Healing Houses maps out a sophisticated metaphysical perspective and traces its development through case studies of dozens of the houses Norberg has worked in during his 20-year psychic career. Whether discussing his training in the feminine first field of Intuition Medicine®, giving a global overview of house healing practices, or offering house healing basics to his readers, Norberg's wry wit shines through. But it is his compassion, for his clients, their homes, and for those whose remnant energy has manifested in some unforeseeable way, that makes this book a healing odyssey.

“Sheldon has a unique intuitive skill set - the ability to detect and identify energy patterns held within a space. Along with this, he has formulated a process to shift aberrant energy patterns in order to induce clarity. Some intuitives heal people- Sheldon heals houses.”
